

Foundation Director

The proud mission of The George Institute is to improve the health of millions of people worldwide through high-impact programs of research and social enterprise focusing on critical aspects of health policy and practice. With offices in Australia, China, India and the UK, the Institute will provide the Foundation with collegiate support to develop regional and global fundraising campaigns.

Reporting to a highly-regarded Principal Director and working with key international stakeholders, you will bring strategic leadership to the Foundation to create a sustainable framework for philanthropic giving. You will develop the case for support, initiate prospect research, engage with high-level private donors, plan a major capital campaign and mentor Foundation staff.

This prestigious leadership position demands a self-motivated professional with a substantive record in strategic planning, relationship building and fundraising success.

If you've been searching for the opportunity to put your stamp on a significant philanthropic enterprise, please forward your application. Alternatively call Philip Mayers or Michelle Varcoe in confidence.
