

Director Alumni & Development

The University of Technology, Sydney (UTS), is one of Australia's most innovative and dynamic universities. Providing a global, practice-oriented learning environment for graduates to reach their full potential and contribute to a globalised society, it has over 32,000 students, 2,600 staff and 140,000 alumni.

UTS has created this high-level advancement role to lead a dynamic team of Fundraising and Alumni professionals who have already achieved significant success. Your challenge is to set the strategic direction of Alumni and Development, develop operational plans, build a collaborative and mutually supportive environment, and be responsible for achieving both personal and team results.

For this key leadership position, you will need to be a proven advancement professional with a visionary capacity and the ability to bring UTS's goals to fruition. Importantly, you must be a capable and inspiring leader, who can earn the respect and support of key internal stakeholders, your own team and major donors.

Please submit your application by 19 July 2010. Alternatively, call Philip Mayers or Michelle Varcoe to discuss this unique opportunity to make your mark at a pivotal stage of UTS's continuing growth.

Newly created leadership role

One of Australia's top performing universities

Excellent conditions & benefits
